Local man charged in fast-food robberies

A Romulus man arrested last week for the holdup of a Dearborn Heights McDonald's restaurant may be responsible for five area robberies reported in the last month, police said.

Eric Waters, 25, was identified by robbery witnesses April 20 in a police lineup.

He was connected with five fast-food restaurant robberies, including the April 5 holdup of Hardee's restaurant in Romulus and the April 2 robbery of a McDonald's in Westland.

A second suspect in the April 2 robbery is still at large, police officials said.

Waters was arraigned May 2 on armed robbery and firearm possession charges for the Romulus and Westland cases. The defendant pleaded not guilty.

In the 34th District Court in Romulus, bond was set at $200,000 cash.

In Westland, 18th District Court Judge Gail McKnight set a $100,000 cash bond.

Waters has been remanded to Wayne County jail. He was scheduled to appear in court May 9 for preliminary examinations.

In addition to the Romulus and Westland robberies, Waters was charged last week in connection with armed robberies in Dearborn Heights and Taylor.

Battle waged to prevent development

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Initial efforts by city officials to prevent a local railroad development have not met with success.

Romulus officials earlier this year asked city engineers, planners and attorneys to search for technical flaws in a wetland-mitigation application submitted to state officials by a Maryland-based railroad company.

The permit application requests the destruction of wetlands to make way for four new storage/set-off railroad tracks between Eureka and Pennsylvania roads.

Representatives from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources approved the application March 20.

Armed with technical reasons, the city may have been able to appeal the permit. City officials learned Monday, however, that no technical problems were found.

Total Distribution will be responsible for relocating a small stream and 5.56 acres of wetlands in another section of town.

Romulus officials say they see the railroad development as bad news.

"We don't need any more train tracks in this town any more than we need a second airport," said Councilman William Wadsworth.

Wadsworth said tracks would interfere with city plans to concentrate residential development in the southwest section of town.

City officials also expressed concern about additional trains blocking roadways, creating problems for school buses and public-safety vehicles.

Romulus resident Mary Collins pointed out this development marks the second attempt in recent years to build additional railroad tracks in Romulus.

The initial attempt was made by CSX transportation several years ago. The company submitted a wetland-mitigation application to the DNR, she said, and allegedly began destroying trees in the development area before approval was granted.

A campaign by Romulus residents and city officials eventually stopped the CSX project. DNR officials gave the company an April 1989 deadline to restore the destroyed trees.

Collins said the trees have not been replaced.

She also expressed concern over the existing plans for development.

"If they build tracks in Romulus and establish a yard... We are going to have train traffic we can't believe," she said.

"We're dealing with an entity that thinks their God," remarked Mayor Beverly McNally. "They think they can do anything they want."

However, city officials have not given up.

City attorney Barry Seifman said Romulus may be able to control the development through planning ordinances. The next step is to determine whether Total Distribution Services is legally a railroad, able to rely on federal railroad protection laws.

In addition, city engineer Keith Risdon recommended the city obtain a copy of the wetlands plan, prepared by Johnson, Johnson and Roy, for review by the city.

The city could then assign someone from the ordinance department to become familiar with the plan and permit requirements.

That person would be responsible for making periodic site investigations before, during and after construction to check on plan and permit compliance.

"By acting as a 'watch dog,' the city should be able to either insure compliance or identify violations and notify the state," Risdon said.

City renews efforts to publicize census

Reminders to return United States Census forms are circulating again throughout Romulus.

Jeffery Martell, coordinator for the community development department, recently provided city officials with a report outlining poor return areas within the city.

The overall return rate for Romulus is 71 percent and ranges citywide from 55 to 86 percent, Martell said.

Below is a breakdown of poor return areas within the city.

- In neighborhoods off Van Born, Wayne and Ecorse roads and the back north section of Merriman Road, the return rate is 55 percent.

- The return rate is 66 percent in the areas of Wayne and Grant Roads along with Interstate-275, north to I-94.

- In the areas of Merriman, Van Born and Inkster Roads, along with portions of I-94, the return rate is 71 percent.

"The rest of the city is above the 71 percent rate, which is acceptable by the census bureau," Martell said. "The areas listed above will be targeted by our office by an outreach program."

Martell said the city program was expected to begin early this month.

In addition, the census bureau has begun send enumerators—people who conduct a door-to-door count—into neighborhoods with poor return rates.

"Anyone who has not received a form, or has disposed of one they received, are encouraged to call me so I can forward the information to the census bureau, who can then send an enumerator to the home," Martell said.

Martell can be reached at the Romulus Community Development Department, 942-7545.

Man arrested for chainsaw attack

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A 34-year-old Taylor man faces misdemeanor charges after allegedly chasing a local woman with a chainsaw.

The Wayne County Prosecutor's Office last week approved a malicious destruction of property charge for the suspect. He reportedly damaged a Romulus woman's home and surrounding property with a chainsaw. The prosecutor's office did not pursue charges of felonious assault brought by the Romulus Police Department after the chase.

According to Romulus police reports, the suspect and victim in this case are acquaintances. The victim told police the suspect visited her at 4:30 p.m. April 28.

She said the suspect was intoxicated, and an argument began.

The suspect reportedly went outdoors and began trimming some branches near the house with a chainsaw. The woman followed him, and the argument continued.

Police said the man began to chase the woman with the chainsaw and she became fearful for her life.

The woman did manage to escape and call the police. Shortly after their arrival, they found the suspect hiding in the victim's garage.

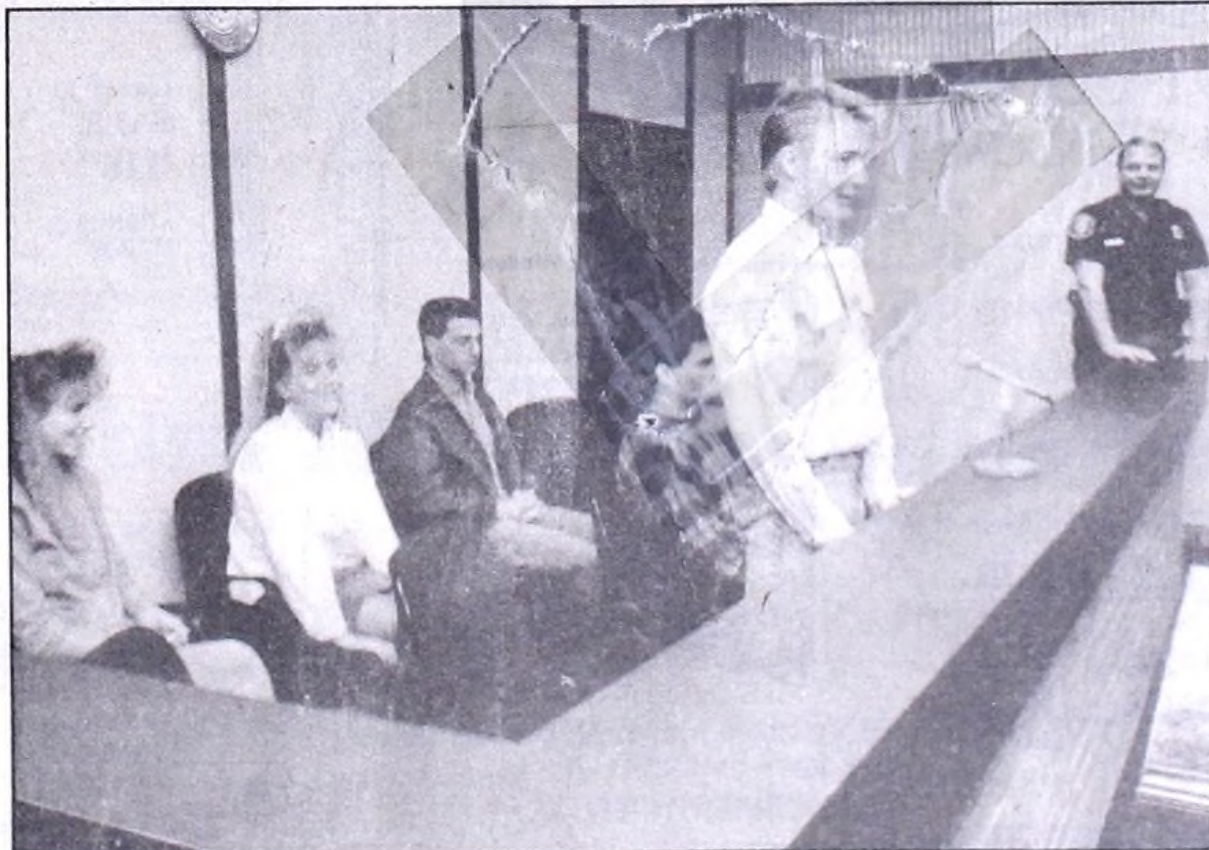

Police reports indicate the man had sawed off several tree limbs on the victim's property, and used a large tree limb to smash in her screen door.

He also swung the limb around in the house causing some property damage, police said.

No serious injuries were reported.

Police arrested the man for felonious assault.

Now facing the charge of malicious destruction of property under $100, the suspect has been released from police custody. He awaits further court action on his case.

Jury duty

During a mock trial Friday morning, Romulus high school students took on the roles of jurors, attorneys and witnesses. The exercise was staged to celebrate Law Day. See related article on page A-5. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Developer meets with city officials

Romulus city officials will meet with Metro World Centre developer Llywd Eccelstone at 6:30 p.m. May 15.

During this special meeting of the Romulus Tax Increment Finance Authority, Eccelstone will discuss progress on his development.

The Metro World Centre has been proposed for a section of land near Detroit Metropolitan Airport. Plans for the development include a world college facility, office buildings, apartments, a shopping area and conference centers.

Plans under way to extend Eureka

Wayne County recently issued a permit for the extension of Eureka Road west of Huron River Drive, Romulus city officials said.

Eureka Road will be extended approximately 250 feet, and the road will have a gravel surface.

The extension was approved so the property owner will have an access road to his property. The owner has announced plans to build a house on the location.

City officials point out the owner will install the road addition at his own expense.

Citizens lobby seeks members

The Michigan Citizens Lobby is planning the annual door-to-door membership drive for Romulus from 4 to 9 p.m. weekdays and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays throughout May.

MCL is a nonprofit organization, supported by volunteer donations. A consumer group, it focuses on working and middle-class citizens.

City department active in festival

From cooking contests to the traditional diaper derby, the Romulus Recreation Department will be sponsoring several activities at the Romulus Festival.

• Big Wheel Grand Prix is for children ages 3 to 7 years. The event will be staged at 11 a.m. May 19 in the parking lot of the Community United Methodist Church. Advance reservations must be made by 5 p.m. May 18 at the recreation center by purchasing a one-day driver's license for $1. All participants must furnish their own Big Wheel.

• Diaper Derby is for crawlers only. A queen and king of the festival will be crowned at the end of this event. Pre-registration is required before 5 p.m. May 18 at the recreation center. The cost is $1.

• Cake and pie judging - both activities are new events. Judging is in two categories - seniors age 55 and older and juniors under 55 years. Participants in the cake competition should bring their masterpiece to the festival grounds and register at 1:30 p.m. May 19. Pie-makers should arrive at 1:30 p.m. May 20. Judging both days will begin at 2 p.m. Judges will be selected from people at the festival. Ribbons will be awarded for each class.

• The bicycle rally is another new event. It begins at 11 a.m. May 20. Registration will be staged at 10 a.m. in the parking lot of Progressive Hall near Five Points. Bikers will depart from the Progressive Hall parking lot and enter the Interstate-275 bike trail at Northline, ride North to Michigan Avenue and return. There will be a check point at Michigan Avenue.

Organizers stress this event is not a race. It is open to families and individuals of all ages. Certificates will be awarded to everyone who completes the rally.

Romulus grants 6-year tax abatement

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus city councilmembers Monday night approved a six-year tax abatement for a manufacturing facility planned for Northline Road.

Representatives from Bill

Jones Enterprises proposed to city officials construction of a 13,600-square-foot facility at an estimated cost of $863,000. The facility will be used to manufacture automobile transmission parts.

The applicants told city council the development could create 15 jobs in the next two years.

Prior to the public hearing, company representatives met with Mayor Beverly McAnally. She later recommended the city grant a six-year abatement to begin Dec. 31, 1990 and end Dec. 30, 1996.

McAnally said the applicants currently operate a business within the city.

"They are a family-owned and operated facility," she said.

The mayor added the tax abatement ties in with a city practice of encouraging small business with the same general incentives offered to larger companies.

Construction of the Bill Jones Enterprises facility began in November 1989 and is expected to be completed in June 1990.

City Assessor Matthew Rafferty said the development property currently generates $474 in tax dollars to the city.

Softball injury results in death

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A 27-year-old Romulus man was killed Saturday afternoon after he was struck on the chest with a softball.

Police officials said Arthur Brett Walsh was playing softball at a Dearborn Heights park when the accident occurred at approximately 12:53 p.m.

Autopsy reports with the official cause of death were not released by deadline.

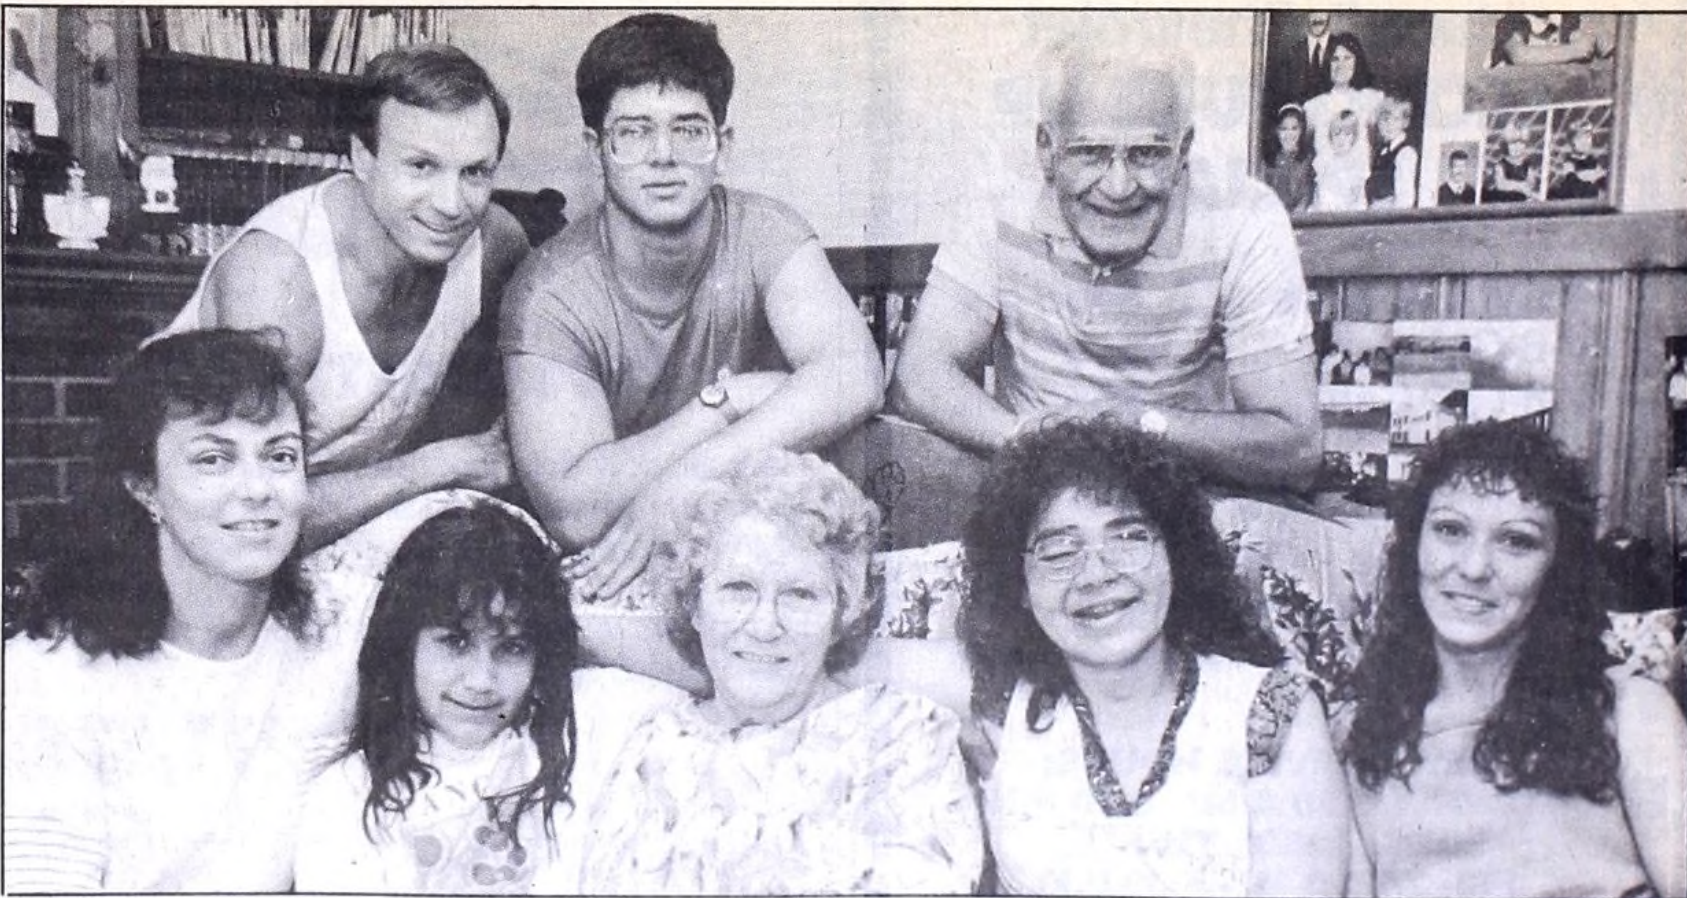

According to police reports, Walsh was attempting to catch a line drive when he missed, and was struck by the ball on the chest.

Walsh managed to retrieve it and throw the ball to another player.

He then took several steps forward and collapsed, police reports state.

The victim was pronounced dead by police and rescue officials upon their arrival at the scene.

Walsh lived on Wahrman Street in Romulus. He was married and was the father of young children.

Mother is strength behind family

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Christine Abdo's children call their mother the strength of the family, someone who's been on call when any of them needed her and is still there for her children today.

George, Abdo's husband, describes her as family chauffeur, family doctor, family nurse and family confidante.

With seven children, 14 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren, Abdo insists she is not a special case, just a regular mom in a big family.

"You just do what you have to do. A lot of people would do what I did," she said.

No way, her family says. When Abdo was 60, she took her first airplane ride to Seattle to visit her daughter, Margaret, who lost a son born prematurely and was fighting for her own life.

Abdo later flew to Louisiana to be at the bedside of her youngest daughter, Cheryl, whose daughter was born with complications.

Abdo's oldest daughter, Edith, was in a head-on car crash 12 years ago with her sons, David and Michael. All three suffered brain damage. Abdo has cared for them since the accident.

"I think she's terrific," Edith said. "She stood by me. I don't know anyone else who would."

After the car accident in 1978, Edith was blind and confined to a wheelchair. Her sons, then eight and nine years old, both suffered closed-head injuries. "She's been a mom to my two boys. She hasn't been a grandma," Edith said.

Edith and David live with Abdo in the same house she and George have lived in for 35 years. Living in a newly expanded part of the house are daughter Cheryl, and her family.

Abdo said she is happy with her life. The commotion, confusion and hectic schedule tie in with her dreams.

"I always wanted a big family. My sister wanted twins. I said I don't mind having 20 children as long as it's one at a time," Abdo said.

George said he doesn't know where his wife finds all her energy. Abdo as a hobby likes to tackle jobs like plumbing, electrical work, carpentry, upholstery and computer work.

In addition to her work at home, Abdo has worked as a school bus driver, a beautician and a factory worker.

"One time she complained about being tired. I told her she had too many irons in the fire. She replied, it was her business what she does," George wrote in a recent Mother's Day tribute to his wife.

"Christine faces each day with determination to make the best of each situation that confronts her," he continued. "For over 40 years I have been a part of these miracles, and I am still amazed of her many accomplishments, and I pray that God will continue to give her strength and energy to carry on this mission."

Students have their day in court

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

When high school students visited the 34th District Court in Romulus last week they were presented two lessons – the workings of the legal system and the dangers of drinking and driving.

The students, from Romulus and Belleville high schools, participated in Law Day May 1 and May 4 by acting out a drunken-driving case in the courtroom.

Students acted as defendants, co-counsel to actual attorneys, witnesses and jurors.

Volunteering their time for the activity were attorneys Brian Oakley, Norman Kohlstrand, Robert Meston, John Day and Magistrate Mark Maironis.

“Law Day nationwide is to get the government involved with the community,” Maironis said.

With the courtroom exercise, he said, organizers attempted to relay a two-pronged message to students.

“We’re obviously trying to educate them about the dangers of drinking and driving...this could be them up there,” Maironis said.

The exercise was also intended to provide the teens with a realistic look at modern law.

“It shows them what the system is like,” Maironis said.

“People on TV make it look easy, and it’s not,” Kohlstrand said. “I know how difficult it was for those kids.”

Some of the students who played the role of attorneys were given a full load of work, including case preparation.

It was probably easiest for the Romulus high school students observe court proceedings as part of Law Day.

prosecutors, Maironis said, because most of the questions asked in a drunken-driving case are obvious. The student attorneys could not plan for everything, however.

“You cannot write every question down. You have to ad lib because you never know what the witness will say,” Maironis said.

Friday morning, Romulus seniors Angela Guajardo and Shawn Davis prosecuted the case together. Guajardo said this case marked her second time in a mock courtroom situation.

“I liked the experience,” she said.

“It was very rewarding,” Davis said. “I didn’t realize how complicated it was. The lawyers have to be pretty talented to win a case.”

Jarmo Ake is a Finnish exchange student attending Romulus Senior High School.

The exercise provided him with his first look inside a courtroom.

“It was interesting,” Ake said. “I liked the way they argued cases.”

Local lumber company marks 95th birthday

A family business that has spanned five generations is celebrating the 95th anniversary of its founding this week.

Amerman Lumber and Supply Co., located at 270 S. Liberty, Belleville, has operated on the same site - near Victory Park - since the business was founded in 1895.

On Saturday, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., the lumber company will host a tent sale celebration with special savings and door prizes. Hot dogs, pop and cake will be served to visitors and balloons will be presented to youngsters.

The ancestors of the present owner, James Amerman, settled on farm land near the corner of Michigan Avenue and Belleville Road in 1837. The founder of the lumber-yard, Wiliam Wallace, left the farm to start the company and, after he retired, turned the business over to his daughter and son-in-law, May Wallace Alban and Walter Alban.

"At one time, the business included the lumber-yard, a coal yard, feed mill and a fledgling Ford Motor Co. agency," said James A. (Jamie) Amerman II, one of the fifth generation of Amerman managers.

When the Albans retired, the business was purchased by their daughter and son-in-law, Dorothy Alban Amerman and Alton D. Amerman. At this time, deliveries had progressed from horse and wagon to a hard, rubber-tired truck, said Jamie Amerman.

Alton Amerman remained active in the business until his retirement in 1963, and the business was incorporated under the present name and managed by the present owner, James A. Amerman, who plans to retire this year.

"I'm looking forward to guiding the company into its second century in Belleville," said Jamie Amerman. "This is a great community, and we plan to continue to serve builders and do-it-yourselfers through the next century."

Summer classes to begin at local college

Summer classes begin May 30 at five Wayne County Community College campuses.

Classes being offered at the Western Campus, 9555 Haggerty Road, Belleville, are introductory courses in accounting, data processing, cultural anthropology, biology, business, political science and psychology. Also offered are ceramics, hygiene, business law, modern dance, economics, English I and II, U.S. history, basic mathematics, algebra, sociology and speech.

Other classes are offered at the Northwest Campus, 8551 Greenfield Road, Detroit; Downriver Campus, 21000 Northline Road, Taylor; Downtown Campus, 1001 W. Fort St., Detroit, and Eastern Campus, 5901 Conner, Detroit.

Enrollment services are available between 1 and 7 p.m. May 14 to 17; between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. May 18 and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. May 19. Enrollments also can be made between 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. May 21 through 24; 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. May 25; 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. May 29 through 31; 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. June 1 and from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. June 4 and 5.

The college maintains an "open door" admission policy. All students 18 years of age and older can be automatically admitted to the college after completing admission procedures. As part of the process, WCCC provides services for admission, orientation, placement testing and counseling services.

Citizens, who are 60 years of age or older, may enroll with free tuition. Class fees, books and supplies, however, must be paid by the student.

Tuition for country residents is $35 per credit hour plus a registration fee of $20. Those who need financial assistance may apply at the campus office of financial aid for any one of the following grants or loans: Pell Grant, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant, college work study, guaranteed student loans, Michigan direct student loans, Michigan part-time student grant, Michigan college work study, Michigan Educational Opportunity Grant or the Tuition Incentive Program. Students who apply for the aid must meet academic requirements to be eligible.

Classes will end the week of Aug. 1.

Hudson's stages union vote

Employees at Hudson's at Westland Center are scheduled to vote Friday on which, if any, union will represent them.

Workers will choose between the United Auto Workers or Local 876 of the United Food and Commercial Workers, or no union at all.

Supporters of each possibility have been fighting to reel in the votes during the past week, but there was no clear sign of which option would take the most votes, according to employees.

More than 100 UAW supporters dressed in green and white jackets paraded through the store last week to show their support of that union. Others have been greeting workers as they come into the store, and supplying them with information and petitions.

The drive to unionize is reportedly the result of implementation of a new commission system at the store which upset many longtime employees.

Dayton Hudson Corp. management has called in Paul Strickland, director of employee and labor relations, to handle the situation and negotiations, according to reports.

Upset by the new compensation system, UAW representatives were called upon to deliver a presentation at a worker's home. The UFCW later intervened and requested to also be placed on the ballot as a potential representative of the Hudson's employees.

Aiport hotel
promotes charity

Employees of the Detroit Metro Airport Marriott are spending the month of May washing cars, keeping miniature hot air balloon displays afloat in the hotel and offering special guest room rates on the weekends. All of these activities are taking place in an effort to collect funds for the Children's Miracle Network.

Employees have set a goal of $1,500 for the month, according to hotel representatives.

A car wash will be staged May 12 at Cory Elementary School. Cars will be washed for $3. The school and the hotel are partners in a community education effort.

Other efforts are also under way at the hotel, located between the north and south terminals of the airport.

Local dentist nets honor

Westland dentist Ronald J. Paler has been re-elected to a second one-year term as secretary of the 5,000-member Michigan Dental Association.

Paler, a general dentist, is a member of the MDA board of trustees and serves on the executive committee. He is past president of the Detroit District Society and a member of the American Dental Association. He is also a member of the Westland Kiwanis Club.

Store adds
kiddie carts

Great Scott supermarkets now offer pint-sized replicas of shopping carts for youngsters. The new carts are available at all 34 Great Scott stores, according to company representatives.

The mini-shopping carts are offered as a teaching tool and as a means for keeping discontented children busy while mom and dad do the shopping, according to store officials.

Promotions announced

Jeffrey G. Kreger and Thomas M. Dziedzic have been promoted by E.G. Wilkinson Jr., president and chief operating officer of Heritage Federal Savings, Taylor.

Kreger will now serve as executive vice president and Dziedzic will serve as loan officer in the mortgage department.

Recycling facility

Bay County will soon be home to the Acunet Envirotech Inc. Neutralysis Recycling Facility.

This will mark the first construction of such a facility in the United States, according to waste management officials.

The facility will incorporate a manufacturing system that converts clay into a non-toxic, non-combustible lightweight aggregate called Neulite, utilizing municipal solid waste as its fuel source.

New products introduced

Two products, which are designed to aid vacationers and sportsmen, are being offered by Camping World.

The company now offers the portable E-Z-Dek patio deck, which can be easily stored and transported. The deck comes in 6-, 7-, 8-, and 9-foot sizes with green or brown carpeting.

The new Panasonic compact video player provides a sharp, realistic image on tapes and features an auto-repeat playback, auto rewind and auto eject/off.

The camping supplier has an outlet on the Interstate-94 service drive, east of Belleville Road, Belleville. Camping World also offers catalogs by writing to the company at P.O. Box 90017, Bowling Green, Ky. 42102-9017.

Pet store is classroom for handicapped

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

After one year of business, Feed Rite Pet Supply has settled into a Canton Township location and become an active member of the community.

Working with a Garden City facility, the Burger Center, Feed Rite provides hands-on employment opportunity for autistic youth and young adults.

Students from the Burger center come to Feed Rite in the mornings, accompanied by aides.

"They go about different duties in the store," said Faris Samaan, who is a co-owner with his brother, Jim.

Students stock shelves, vacuum, dust and take on general maintenance tasks. One of the most popular jobs in the store is caring for the pets sold there, Samaan said.

Workers range in age from 18 to 25.

When this program began, a Dearborn Heights location also worked with the students. Now the Canton store is the only Feed Rite to participate.

Samaan said the students who come to his store love their work.

"For them it's a field trip, a chance to get out of the classroom...They really like coming here, mainly because of the animals," he said.

Spanning 6,000 square feet, Feed Rite offers plenty to do for anyone who works there. The store caters to nearly every pet, "from hamsters to horses," Samaan said.

Feed Rite sells food, basic supplies and accessories.

"We carry the unusual things," Samaan added, pointing to a display of Elizabethan collars.

The collars are used to protect animals from biting themselves after undergoing surgery or injury.

The store also carries bulk pet food, cages, toys and even a few plush stuffed animals.

"If we don't have something, we'll get it in," Samaan said.

And unlike most supply shops, he boasted, Feed Rite carries pets — tropical birds, tropical fresh water fish, and small animals ranging from gerbils to guinea pigs.

Soon, Samaan said, reptiles will be added to the list.

Feed Rite Pet Supply is located at Ford Road and Lilley in the Canton Plaza.

County residents to participate in nationwide health needs survey

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne, Oakland and Ingham counties have been selected as sites in a nationwide survey of the health and nutritional status of Americans.

More than 1,300 Michigan residents will be asked to participate in the survey, including 464 residents from Wayne County. The survey in Michigan will be conducted through July.

The survey, conducted by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, will consist of a household medical interview and a physical examination conducted in the survey-taker's mobile examination center free of charge.

According to Sandy Smith of the National Center For Health and Statistics, the survey will "take a picture of the nation's health to determine the causes of diseases and the progress of disease prevention."

Smith said the 1990 survey will focus on the health of children and seniors, occupational and environmental health concerns, and osteoporosis.

Airport runway contract approved

Wayne County commissioners May 3 approved a $5.9 million contract for runway construction at Wayne County Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The contract is with Novi-based firm Tony Angelo Cement Company. It calls for the construction of a 1,500-foot south extension to runway 3L, part of a $1 billion airport expansion project.

The expansion also includes a south access road to the airport, a new terminal and a new runway.

County officials said five companies responded to bids for the runway extension project - Tony Angelo submitted the lowest.

A battery of tests during the exam will also try to determine the causes of and preventative measures for heart disease, asthma and kidney disorders. Tests include blood pressure, serum cholesterol, height, weight and other body measurements.

Currently, the National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey staff of 25 medical technicians, doctors and nurses are interviewing possible candidates for the survey in Wayne County, Smith said.

On May 25, the NHNS staff will begin conducting vision, hearing, glucose tolerance and other tests during the three-hour exam for each participant selected in Wayne County at the Holiday Inn-Fairlane, 5801 Southfield Freeway at Ford Road, she said.

NHNS will pay each participant $20.

"The data from the survey and tests are kept strictly confidential. Individuals will be given a full report of their tests," she said.

According to Cynthia Tauge, health officer of the Wayne County Health Department, the county will refer individuals to doctors or specialists if individuals desire.

The aggregate data will go to the National Center of Health-Statistics which supplies the information to researchers from the U.S. Public Health Service and universities across the country who analyze health-risk factors, Tauge said.

"Our goal is to get a representative sampling of the United States population," Smith said.

Hospitals win Medicaid case, reimbursements to increase

By JOHN AGGE
ANP Staff Writer

A federal judge ruled April 26 favorably for the Michigan Hospital Association, which includes Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and the Westland Medical Center, in a lawsuit which charged the state Department of Social Services set Medicaid payments illegally low.

The class-action suit, filed July 25, 1989 in U.S. District Court, also named the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services as a defendant. In January 1990, Federal Judge Richard Enslen dismissed the federal agency from the suit and turned the case over to Judge Robert Holmes Bell, who is presiding over a similar case brought against the state by Michigan nursing homes.

Bell's ruling indicated the state has failed to comply with federal law in establishing payments to hospitals under the Medicaid program, and declared the current payment plan invalid. Bell ordered an earlier payment plan reinstated and also ordered an amended state plan in compliance with federal law within 180 days.

The MHA cited the federal Boren Amendment to the Social Security Act, which requires full reimbursement of Medicaid costs to efficiently operated hospitals, as the basis of the suit.

When the suit was filed, hospitals were receiving 79 cents from the state on every dollar of care provided. A new state plan decreased payments to hospitals to 76 cents for every dollar worth of care and Gov. James Blanchard had proposed new cuts in funding for the Medicaid program, according to reports. Hospitals in the state lost $75 million in the fiscal year 1989, and losses for the fiscal year 1990 could be as much as $104 million.

The MHA sought no retroactive remuneration in the lawsuit.

"Despite the favorable ruling, time will tell how the state will respond," said Nancy Fiedler, vice president of public affairs for the MHA. "Hospitals are hopeful the court's action will result in a higher priority for health care and that long overdue discussions can now begin about ensuring accessible, affordable health care to all Michiganders."

The judge found the state failed to meet federal law as evidenced by the admission by state administrators they "had no idea whether the state's payments are reasonable and adequate to meet the costs of which must be incurred by efficiently and economically operated hospitals."

Judge Bell also ruled the state could not use budget considerations as the sole determinant when setting Medicaid reimbursement rates to hospitals.

"Judge Bell found no merit whatsoever in the state's defense in this suit," MHA President Spencer Johnson said. "When we went to court last year, it was a last resort. We had no choice. Our options were to go broke, to stop serving Medicaid patients, or to file suit. We chose to sue."

When will we grow up?

I wonder when this city is going to grow up. I'm so sick of everything in this town being "black & white" and south and north of Michigan Avenue. We, the citizens of Inkster, must get involved, show up at council meetings - parks and rec (sic) meetings, cable meetings, CB patrols. Your City is in trouble but who is willing to do something?

Support your fire department - Support your police department. And if the people who want to recall those who they feel are at fault, would spend all that time and work for people who want to be on council (things would be better).

Leaders lauded

Sunday April 22 is Girl Scout Leader Day. We, the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council Board of Directors, would like to say Thank You to the Girl Scout leaders in Wayne-Westland area.

Thank you for helping to shape the future of young girls by being a positive role model.

Thank you for showing girls the true meaning of the Promise and Law. Girl scouting is an extension of your beliefs and values.

Thank you for teaching girls to be responsible citizens by doing service projects for the community.

Thank you for showing a girl the beauty of the world around her and to feel her own beauty and self-worth.

Thank you for the time you spend away from your family for troop meetings, field trips and weekend camping trips.

Thank you for having faith in the future by investing time in Girl Scouts.

Enjoy leader day! We give you HATS OFF, SALUTE! You are doing a fantastic job!

U.S. no longer moral pillar

Once considered a moral pillar in the world, the U.S. deprived itself of that honorable title in 1973 when the Supreme Court legalized abortion. Young women and girls have obtained millions of abortions with the assurance that their decision has been supported by the legal system. Absolving themselves of the guilt that follows abortion is a little more difficult however. The emotional and psychological problems that can result from abortion are very prevalent in society today. Every human being has his or her own concept of morality. Yet, all know they have to abide by the laws of this country. Simply because abortion has been legalized does not make it necessarily expedient to obtain one. Unfortunately, this legalization has set a precedent for many of our young people who have compromised their own moral principles while affording the blame entirely on the Supreme Court's decision.

Is there such a thing as a bad law? Of course there is. Legalized abortion for the sake of convenience is such a law. If unrighteous people are making the laws, unrighteous laws will prevail until those same individuals are removed from the office or the laws are changed. When the laws of man stray away from the laws of God (which this country was founded on) it's necessary to change them.

The lifetime term of officers of the Supreme Court has been a death sentence for far too many human beings. This term, then, is the first initial change to be made. A term no longer than that of the presidency should avail those holding these officers. Perhaps in this way some of the unrighteousness can be weeded out, and the moral integrity of our country once again restored.

Out-price the smoking habit

Legislation is currently being considered which would increase the tax on cigarettes from 25 to 50 cents per pack. Money generated from the tax would go toward educational programs and health programs for children.

What a clever way to net additional education funding while making it even less justified to participate in an activity which is known to be deadly. Sponsors of the bill, including Rep. Jim Kosteva, deserve a round of applause for this one.

Smoking can cost you your life, in addition to the outrageous financial burden the habit places on those who are addicted.

We support any measure that would curb the use of cigarettes or at least make it very "painful" to maintain the habit.

By increasing the cigarette tax, legislators are hitting people right where they live - the wallet - and therefore sending them a message about smoking.

Perhaps some will heed this message and kick the habit now that it is becoming cost-prohibitive. Others, we are sure, will continue to dole out whatever it takes to "feed" their habit.

How much will be too much? How much will a smoker pay to quench his or her hunger for nicotine?

Some addicts will no doubt find a way to fund the habit. They stand in line at the supermarket and pay their bill with food stamps, and yet they reach into their pocket to get money for cigarettes.

Others may actually accept the increase as a real reason for them to stop smoking - as if saving their own life were not enough.

How terrible that such a dangerous habit has grabbed hold of so many people. Doctors and researchers continue to uncover new hazards for smokers. Lung cancer, throat cancer and heart attacks are just a few of the disorders which can be linked to smoking, or at least are complicated by smoking.

Perhaps this tax will make more people realize that these diseases are just not worth the money.

The surgeon general warns that cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health, let the legislature warn that cigarette smoking can be hazardous to your financial well-being.

If that is what it takes, go for it.

Response to census shows area concern

The area reporting station for the U.S. Census is reporting better-than-average turnout for local communities. Local residents are exceeding the expectations of census analysts across the country.

Nearly 70 percent of all census forms have been returned, according to officials, and for that area residents deserve credit.

The word was passed along about the importance of this national count. Newspapers, television stations and service groups did their part to inform the public, and residents did their part to complete the forms and mail them in.

If you have not received a form, or if you threw yours away, census officials say it's still not too late to be counted.

Enumerators will be going door-to-door until June to talk with individuals who have not completed their form.

Added service by the enumerators, however, will cost Americans more. So, if you are able, take matters into your own hands and call your local government offices for information or a new form.

The census can mean more money, better roads, and more representation for your community, so there is still time to stand up and be counted.

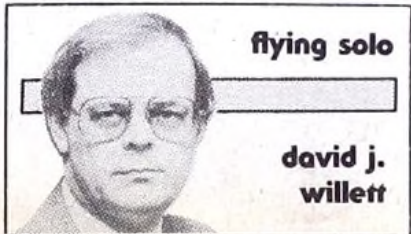

My birthday gift from George

Birthday presents don't always come wrapped in colorful paper and tied with ribbons and bows. And sometimes, the most important gifts are given unwittingly and without real intent.

George Bush gave me one of those this year. Yep, THE George Bush, President of the United States. I had the honor of spending my birthday last week with George, and I had planned on telling everyone just what a great experience it was. Now, don't misunderstand, anytime I get to see the President of the United States, it is a great experience. But this time, it was rather disconcerting when added to some other recent observations.

I've been privileged to hear and see five presidents in person, and the day that event no longer inspires awe and wonder in my heart, I'll hang up my spurs. This time, however, it was an eye-opening experience. I was among about 150 people who attended the National Small Business United conference in Washington D.C. last week, and on Tuesday, my birthday, we were invited to attend a briefing with George... a highlight of the trip. We were joined by members of the National Organization of Women Business Owners, also convening in D.C.

In the past, I've always been amazed at the clockwork-like schedule of the president. If he's due at 1 p.m., you can set your watch that it will be 1 p.m. unless there has been some national crisis. This time, George showed up late, looked a bit disconcerted and began to read to us a speech obviously prepared by a staff member. He was well, tense.

I explained to a fellow visitor that every time I have seen Bush, he reminds me of the Saturday Night Live actor who does a satire of his manners. Bush's hand gestures and facial expressions are even more exaggerated than portrayed. Our president has elevated gestures to an art form. It was obvious that this was a man under a great deal of pressure and strain.

I didn't like it. I was reminded of my last visit to D.C. when the president was at the Washington Marriott and I happened to walk by. The police were restraining pedestrians from walking anywhere near the area, and set up manned patrols to deter passersby in a block-wide radius. When the yellow police line was finally lowered, I meandered down the street, passing waiting police cars, constantly moving police motorcycle patrols circling the still-closed street and a genuine SWAT team sitting in body armor, automatic weapons ready to move in a split second.

It wasn't a pleasant sight. Neither are the latest concrete barriers now in front of the familiar edifice of the White House. The President of these United States is under a death threat from the drug barons of the South American drug cartel. And yet, he is still visible, still accessible, and yes, still vulnerable. Adding fuel to the growing fire of my awareness of the danger of national office, was an incident on the plane coming home. Thanks to a very kind Northwest Airlines attendant who became aware that it was my birthday during a scheduling mix up, I was treated to first-class accommodations. It was especially nice to be free of the day-long surveillance by secret servicemen, the cameras, the metal detectors and the identification badges which had to be worn at all times.

With a sigh of relief, I settled into my seat to travel home when down the aisle came, you guessed it, a flock of secret service personnel. They scanned passengers, checked every overhead bin and cleared the decks for the arrival of William Bennett, the presidential drug czar.

Of course, we didn't know who our famous companion was at first, so as he settled in across the aisle from me, I admit, I stared at him. When he turned to face me, he gave me a look I will never forget. In that instant, he revealed to me the reality of all the other precautions and security I had seen in various offices in Washington.

His look was one of wonder, questioning and buried somewhere deep behind his eyes, terror. He really wondered if I might be an accomplice to his death.

When we arrived in Detroit, Bennett was quickly whisked into a Wayne County Sheriff vehicle waiting on the tarmac, secret service in full force.

It is a hazardous time in our country. Politicians who are governing and administering our country live with a real threat every minute of every day. I admire those who serve our country despite this hazard. But isn't it hazardous, too, for the cop on the street, the shop owner open late at night, the babysitter who walks home down a dark street?

Folks, we went wrong somewhere and it is past time to do something about it before we degenerate further into a vicious pack of animals. I'm glad peace is breaking out around the world, but isn't it time it breaks out in America? The President's birthday gift to me was a new awareness of the real state of our world and the dangers that are so prevalent here. I don't like it...but I'm grateful to know about it and for those who continue to serve despite the risk.

I have a new admiration for the men and women who make themselves accessible to groups and audiences knowing they place their very lives on the line to do so. And most of all, I'm grateful to live in a country where the leaders continue to take the risk because they believe our country is worth it.

George Bush made me grateful to be an American. For that, I thank him.

Bike-hike path opened locally

A new 5-mile bike-hike trail is now available at the Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville.

The paved trail cost $470,000 according to William Kreger, Huron-Clinton Metropark Authority commissioner representing Wayne County.

The bike-hike trail begins at the Hannan Road entrance to the park, and runs parallel to the parkway. Those using the trail are provided with views of the Huron River, several picnic and play-field areas, the 18-hole golf course, swimming pool, tennis courts and several other park facilities, according to Kreger.

Bike rentals will be available at the swimming pool complex in the park.

There are several other bike trails serving the area. They include:

- Metro Beach Metropark has more than four miles of marked bike-hike trail, with a new section that extends from the marina along the Black Creek and out to Pointe Huron picnic area.

- Stony Creek Metropark has a 6.2-mile trail that takes bikers and hikers around Stony Creek Lake. The trail winds through woods, fields and near the water.

- Indian Springs Metropark has an eight-mile trail through hilly terrain in a country atmosphere.

- Kensington Metropark has an eight-mile trail that covers a loop around Kent Lake, travelling through woods, up hills and along the water edge.

- Hudson Mills Metropark has a three-mile trail which circles the park.

Park officials offer some tips for those using the trail. Because the trails are shared by bikers, hikers and joggers, the guidelines are important for maintaining a safe environment.

- Bikes should be checked for possible defects before starting out.

- Walk and ride to the right.
- Ride at a safe speed and give pedestrians the right of way.

- Pass on the left and give prior warning when approaching others from the rear.

- Ride defensively, be prepared for potentially dangerous situations.

- Ride single file when approaching other riders or pedestrians.

- Parents with child passengers should make sure rear-wheel spokes are covered on the bike.

- Beware when approaching pedestrians with dogs.

- Move off the trail when coming to a stop.

For more information about bicycle rental, or the bike-hike trails, call 1-800-47-PARKS.

'Gold rush'

Robichaud's Wheatley sets record, claims 4 firsts at Port Huron

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Robichaud High's record-setting Tyrone Wheatley led the Bulldogs gold rush at the prestigious Port Huron Track & Field Invitational staged on Saturday.

Wheatley personally accounted for three gold medals and also participated in the winning 4 x 100-meter relay to claim four gold medals. He also established a Robichaud and Port Huron Invitational record in the long jump.

"He is a natural athlete," said Leit Jones, who, after a four-year hiatus, has returned to the coaching ranks. "And he's just an excellent athlete to coach."

Wheatley, a 17-year-old junior who is the defending Class B state champ in both the long jump and the 100-meter dash, soared 24 feet, 7 1/2 inches for a new mark and a gold medal in the long jump. Teammate Fred Mathews finished second with the silver thanks to a leap of 21 feet, 4 1/2 inches.

Wheatley also tried his skills on the high hurdles, a first for the versatile athlete. He cleared the hurdles in 14.54. That time earned for him a gold medal, and is the fourth fastest time in Robichaud's history.

What made Wheatley decide to challenge the hurdles? Jones explained.

"During a light workout last week, Tyrone put up a couple of hurdles and began practicing on them. He looked good. He decided to add four or five more, and he looked so impressive that we decided to see what he could do. On Saturday (at Port Huron), he showed just how good he can be."

Wheatley continued his onslaught on the gold as he covered the 100-meter dash in the winning time of 10.86 for his third individual first place.

Jones put together a 4 x 200-meter relay team made up of Romney Smith, Derrick Rendles, Omar Julius and Mathews, who responded in the winning time of 1:32.9.

The Bulldogs also dominated the 4 x 100-meter relay with a lineup that included Mathews, Rendles, Julius and Wheatley, who were clocked in the winning time of 44.3.

Robichaud returns to the Suburban Athletic Conference track on Thursday when they will host natural rival, Inkster, at 4 p.m. The Vikings, although they have a respectable team this year, do not have the depth to hold off the Bulldogs.

However, Robichaud is running in the shadows of Highland Park in the Suburban Athletic Conference. The Parkers tainted Robichaud's record with a 69-59 decision. Robichaud will carry a 2-1 SAC record into today's confrontation with the Vikings. They decisively defeated Willow Run earlier in the season, 81-27, but barely escaped the Panthers of River Rouge, 65-63.

Jones is pleased with his chargers.

"We're coming around at a steady pace, and we're getting away from being a one dimensional team, which will definitely help."

Jones also has the coaching services of former University of Michigan and Taylor Center's great, Shelby Johnson. Johnson is a Big 10 Conference hurdles' champ, and two-time Class A state champ out of Taylor Center. He is serving as assistant coach this year.

"To have the assistance of a coach with Johnson's ability and skills is an honor," Jones noted. "Shelby has a vast amount of knowledge to offer these young athletes. His input is priceless."

Chiefs snap losing streak

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The Chiefs of New Boston High snapped their conference losing streak last week at the expense of Airport, 3-1.

The victory, however, had little effect on the standings. The Chiefs continue to struggle on the bottom of the conference.

Dave Delano, getting some relief help from Matt Hamilton in the seventh, picked up the victory. Hamilton stepped in in the seventh, facing a bases loaded situation and struck out the final batter.

Delano twirled a two-hitter, fanned six and walked four. He was staked to three runs in the second as Jason Marteney worked losing pitcher John VanWashenova for a walk, moved to second with Ed Mounce's bunt, then, after a strikeout, and a wild pitch, Chris Good drove in two runs with his single. Another wild pitch set the stage for Matt Spiecker's sacrifice fly, which drove in the third run.

Bill Worley came up with the defensive gem of the game as he made a spectacular catch, picking the ball from atop of the fence, to avert disaster for Delano and the Chiefs.

However, title-hopeful River-view shut out the Chiefs 8-0 as right-hander Mike Orr notched 14 strikeouts, walked one and fired a seven-hitter. Matt Spiecker, who gave up 10 hits, whiffed eight and walked three, was the loser.

Huron threatened in the fifth and loaded the bases as Steve Caulk laced a single, and, after Ron Nowitzke forced Caulk out, Chris Good singled, putting runners on first and second. Spiecker also singled, loading the bases.

With two away, Orr erased the threat when he struck out Matt Hamilton.

In the second, the Chiefs also had runners in scoring position when Hamilton singled and moved to second when Worley was hit by a wild pitch. Delano walked, but Orr got Eric Eastridge to fan for the final out of the inning.

Flat Rock held off a rallying Huron 5-4 to hand junior right-hander Nowitzke a 5-4 setback. The Chiefs again had the bases loaded in the seventh but pitcher Dave Mills managed to elude the loss column as he got Marteney to ground out for the final out.

That inning went something like this: Good popped up to third, then Spiecker walked, moved to second on Hamilton's single, then after the second out, Delano walked and Eastridge also drew a base on balls, forcing in what proved to be the Chiefs' final run.

Spiecker and the Chiefs have a busy week as they host out-of-league rival Woodhaven today. Tomorrow they also will entertain Monroe Jefferson.

Belleville bats come alive as Tigers win 2

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Senior infielder Vince Sacco slammed two home runs to lift Belleville to a 7-2 victory over Lincoln Park and out of its doldrums last week.

The Tigers and Coach John Bertz snapped out of their losing streak and humbled Wyandotte 6-3 to improve their Wolverine 'A' Conference baseball record to 3-5 on the year.

"It's unfortunate we got off to a bad start," Bertz stressed. "This team could easily be 5-1 instead of where they are. But I feel we are improving with each game."

Sacco hammered his pair of roundtrippers the first two appearances at the plate against loser Mike Horvath, who gave up eight hits in digesting the loss.

Sophomore Mike Komaromi chalked up his first win of the season as he notched nine strikeouts, walked five and hit one-batter. He helped his own cause with a second inning homer.

Horvath also served up a home run ball to Pete LaBoda, who drilled the two-run blast in the fourth. Teammate Jeremy Ison had two hits, a single and a double.

Jason Henderson made it 2-0 on the season as he struck out nine, walked five, and scattered five Wyandotte hits in his second appearance this year on the mound.

Mike Penta took the loss. He yielded nine hits, including two each to Mike Gentry and Komaromi.

However, Ypsilanti continued to dominate its neighboring nonconference foe as the Braves swept a pair of games, 10-7 and 3-1, from Bertz's club. The Tigers loaded the bases three times in the second game but failed to come up with the key hit.

Belleville wasted a bases-loaded double by Gentz in their 13-6 setback at the hands of Wayne Memorial last week. Ken Trumbull was charged with the defeat in relief of Komaromi, who pitched the first two innings.

Belleville blew a 3-0 first-inning lead as Wayne tied the game at 3-all in the bottom of the third, struck for two more runs in the fifth and built up a 9-5 lead before coasting to victory.

Randy Canavan had two hits in four appearances at the plate and Sacco came through with a two-run double for the losers.

Belleville has a pair of conference games to consider this week before competing in the pre-district playoffs. They are at Trenton today and met Fordson on Tuesday. The Tigers drew a bye in the first round of the state playoffs, and will play on May 25 at Ann Arbor Huron for their first test.

Romulus pitching 'self-destructs'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Displaying a streak of wildness on the mound, a self-destructing Romulus pitching staff yielded an unprecedented number of walks that led to three key baseball losses and a tie in the South Central Conference last week.

Coach Don Foley and his Eagles dropped both ends of a double-header to Adrian and also lost the first of two of a twin-bill to Ypsilanti before salvaging a tie in the second game with the Braves.

"What's hurting us," admits Foley, "is the number of walks we issue. We have displayed wildness on the mound that obviously hurts us."

Foley hopes to find a cure this week for what ails his Eagles as they host SCC foe Ann Arbor Huron today. They started the week against New Boston Huron (Tuesday) and played Fordson on Wednesday. The latter two games were non-leaguers.

Against Adrian in the first game, Romulus blew a 6-0 lead and lost a 9-7 decision as reliever Ed Tank was charged with the loss. Rich Evans started for the Eagles and worked the first 3 2/3 innings, giving up six runs before yielding to Tank. Tank was tagged with three runs, including two runs in the sixth that proved to be the difference in the game.

Romulus jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the first inning as winning pitcher Dan Winzeler walked Ed King and Evans, then Thom Patterson was safe on an error, loading the bases. Kevin Blevins' sacrifice fly chased home the first run of the game, bringing Steve Honeycutt to the plate.

Honeycutt hammered a three-run homer over the left field fence to lift the Eagles into a 4-0 lead.

In the third, sophomore Mark Harden slammed his first homer of the season with Honeycutt aboard to boost the Eagles' margin to 6-0. However, Adrian came right back in their fourth and tied the game at 6-all, then broke the deadlock with a two-run fifth and, after Romulus scored one run in the sixth, Adrian cashed in for a run in their seventh.

In the nightcap, Adrian cashed in on four unearned runs to hand starter King, who pitched the first 2 2/3 innings, a 7-4 setback. Soph right-hander Tim Dufore finished up, allowing his SCC opponents only one run in 4 1/3 innings of work.

Romulus made a run at Adrian in the fifth when the Eagles scored three of their four runs. Tank doubled and Evans walked, then, after Patterson hit into a forceout, King doubled home one run. Blevins' groundout led to the second run, and Harden laced his second single of the game, driving in the third and what proved to be the Eagles' final run of the game.

Ypsi intimidated Romulus as the Braves scored four runs on only one hit, two walks and two errors in the fourth inning, which helped in Honeycutt's demise. Honeycutt lasted 3 1/3 innings but was charged with nine runs before Dufore took over and finished up.

Romulus made it a 4-3 ball game in the second as singles by Blevins, Honeycutt and Rob Hoth, after Tank hit into a double play, gave them their first run. Harden then belted his second homer of the week, over the left-centerfield fence, making it a 4-3 game.

But the Braves stormed back and put a run on the scoreboard in the second, added two more in the third and fourth.

Romulus rallied for its final two in the sixth thanks to a double by Honeycutt after a single by Patterson and a walk to Blevins.

In the nightcap, the game was called in the eighth because of darkness after each team had scored a run in the seventh.

Evans had two singles and scored twice, while Blevins also accounted for a pair of singles and two RBIs. Harden turned in with two hits, and an RBI.

"If we can maintain any kind of consistency, we have shown that we can play with any team in our league," Foley said.

Romulus will also meet Westland John Glenn on the home field May 16 in the qualifying round of the Class B district playoffs.

Vikings sweat it out

After failing last week to put on the brakes in their skid in the Suburban Athletic Baseball Conference, the Vikings of Inkster will have to sweat it out this week as they face the top of the SAC league standings.

Coach Jerome Orr and his Vikings fell to archrival, Robichaud, 8-5 and to River Rouge by the identical score last week, leaving them with only two victories in seven official outings this year. And with Highland Park and Willow Run coming to town, the Vikings have a pair of toughies ahead of them.

Disappointed over the losses, the sophomore Inkster coach remains optimistic about his club's future.

"It's disappointing to lose," Orr said, "but I have to say this - that our team has been in every game it has played this year. Our problem is we leave too many stranded on the base paths."

"We are not coming through with the key hits."

Wesley Lawrence went the distance, struck out eight and walked four in Inkster's 6-4 loss to Robichaud. The Vikings wasted a pair of singles by Bernard Reeves, while Tyrone Orr, Maurice Bell, and Charles Adams each had RBI singles.

Rouge turned back Inkster and pitcher Bell 8-5 in the first of two games. The second game was called because of darkness in the sixth.

After three unsuccessful attempts, the Tigers of Belleville women's track & field team have finally broken into the victory column. The victory came at the expense of Wolverine 'A' Conference rival, Southgate Anderson, 71-56.

Sparked by double event winners Lawanda Smith and Dorvia Thomas, the Tigers picked up 10 of the 16 first places.

Smith dominated the sprints, covering the 100-yard dash in the winning time of 12.4. She returned to take the 220 in 28.3. Thomas ruled the hurdles, polishing off the highs in 20.0 and the lows in 57.0.

Belleville also picked up victories in the high jump as Jennifer Vandecar cleared 4 feet, 10 inches and in the long jump, thanks to Keona Gibson's 14 feet, 2 1/2 inch performance.

The Tiger two-mile relay team of Ann Gray, Jill Medley, Carla Blackwell and Jennifer Woodington finished in the winning time of 11:50.2. Gray, a premier freshman, toured the mile run in 5:45, then the just-turned 15-year-old runner claimed the two-mile run in 12:44.8.

Belleville also won the 440-yard relay with a lineup made up of Gibson, Smith, Rachelle Alexander and Danita Mallory. They turned in a 57.2 to win the event.

Earlier in the week, the Tigers bowed to title-favorite Monroe, 98-32.

In the meantime, the Belleville men's team buried Southgate Anderson 90-38 behind senior Jeff Komaromi's stellar efforts. Komaromi accounted for three of the 12 Tiger victories as he finished first in the long jump (18'10"); discus (145'1/2"); and the shot put (46'93/4").

The victory also boosted Belleville's overall record to 3-1 on the year.

Belleville also had the best two-mile and 880-yard relay teams on the field against Southgate. In the two-mile, Milt Foley, Pete Laframboise, Gary Knowlton and Jason Kidwell turned in a 9:12.0 to win. In the 880, the Tigers' winning combination was Foley, Edwards, Bradford and James Craig, who finished in 1:37.8.

Earlier, Edwards had the best time for the 100-yard dash (10.4), and Bradford was the winner in the high jump (5'8"). Kidwell crossed the finish line first in the mile run (4:59.0).

In the 330 low hurdles, Marty O'Sullivan cleared the obstacles first (43.6), while Foley was first in the 220-yard dash (24.8) and Knowlton stashed away the two-mile run for the Tigers in 10:59.9.

Belleville's quartet of Foley, O'Sullivan, Kidwell, and John Duff finished first in the mile run.

Belleville's two-meet conference winning streak was snapped last Tuesday by Monroe, 88-40. Monroe is considered the team to beat in the race for the Wolverine 'A' Conference title this season.

Inkster softball tossed in tailspin

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Inkster softballers last week ran into River Rouge and Willow Run, two of the pre-season title favorites in the Suburban Athletic Conference, and were tossed into a tailspin.

After Rouge ripped Coach John Carlson's Vikings 19-9, Willow Run then jolted their SAC rivals. The Flyers bombed Inkster 13-8 and 20-3, leaving the Vikings with only one 'real' victory in their five outings this season. (Inkster has two other victories in their won-lost column because Highland Park has forfeited their games this season due to the lack of players.)

"We helped in our own demise," said Carlson, who is in his second year as head coach. "We committed a total of 13 errors against Willow Run. The errors definitely cost us."

"And we have to find a couple of people in our outfield who can catch the ball," Carlson added.

Inkster pitcher Jean Braswell was charged with all three losses, and the Viking coach says that the young hurler "just isn't getting the support on defense that she received a year ago."

Tequan Abney, who tripled, singled and drove in two runs, and Tawana Green, who had one hit and walked twice against winning pitcher Michelle Wilson, led the Viking hitting assault on Rouge.

Braswell gave up only three earned runs in her 13-8 setback in the first game against Willow Run. She struck out eight and walked 10. Winner Diane Thacker was tagged for nine hits, two by Alexis Watson, who chased home three runs. Tina Tillman chipped in a pair of singles in four trips to the plate against Thacker.

Six errors paved the way for the Willow Run sweep. Braswell took the 20-3 loss, while Baumgardner, who struck out 10, walked 10, and gave up five hits, was the winner.

Inkster began the week as host to natural rival, Robichaud, on Monday. They will get their final look at Rouge on Friday. Both games are doubleheaders.

Energy-savings plans are offered

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

The Michigan Public Service Commission and state-regulated gas and electric utility companies and rural electric cooperatives are encouraging utilities to "Be Energy Wise". Customers facing increased bills can get energy assistance to help meet these obligations. Area residents can also contact their utility company to receive energy conservation information.

Each utility company has specific energy assistance programs to help customers.

For example, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, which supplies gas and service for the Belleville, Canton, Westland, Romulus and Inkster communities, offers a variety of energy assistance programs for senior citizens, handicapped people, unemployed and low-income families.

According to Kathy Karas, media relations officer at MichCon, now is a good time for customers to work out payment agreements with the utility to avoid gas shut off in the winter months.

Karas said MichCon offers a budget payment plan for customers who are behind in their gas bill payments. Participating customers pay equal monthly payments for 12 months.

"We also encourage senior citizens 60 years and older to contact MichCon, because they may qualify a discount on gas appliance repair, and the Mich-Con Heating Bank." The senior discount covers gas repair labor costs, but not appliance parts, she added.

The MichCon Heat Bank offers $1 million dollars in credit and assistance to seniors over 60, handicapped citizens, unemployed workers, and low-income customers between the months of December and April. MichCon asks its customers to donate money to the Mich-Con Heating Bank fund since it will match up to $170,000 of the donations.

According to Karas, the deferred payment program helps the unemployed. Twenty percent of a customer's gas bill can be deferred to next year. She said the payment would be deferred until the customer is re-employed or 12 months.

Further qualifications include a customer receiving unemployment assistance for 15 months, customer not receiving Aid to Dependent Children and making one gas payment within three months, she said.

The Michigan Department of Social Services works closely with MichCon with specific programs that help low-income families and citizens meet energy obligations.

Karas said, the DSS makes direct payments to MichCon in the "Emergency Needs Program" and "The Heating Assistance Program," where a portion of an ADC check goes to energy assistance.

MichCon also emphasizes energy analysis programs to its customers.

She said, the "Home Energy Analysis" program offers customers a conservation expert to identify energy loss areas within a home for $10.

MichCon customers also can ask for a free "Do-it-Yourself Energy Analysis" brochure which is sent to customers with a survey. After customers complete the survey, they can send it back to MichCon which will conduct an analysis of the survey, Karas said.

The results of the "Do-it-Yourself" survey will be mailed to the customer at no charge, she said.

As the summer months approach, Karas offered some energy conservation tips. She suggests residents turn down their furnace, and turn up their air conditioners to 78 degrees.

She said attic insulation is also a good way to control heating and cooling loss. Keeping drapes and shades drawn during the summer months is another good energy saver.

JOHN HOLBROOK IS ONE OF "JERRY'S KIDS!"

John, an ALS patient, just turned 80. Still, he's one of "Jerry's kids." That's because Jerry Lewis's cause, the Muscular Dystrophy Association, battles not just muscular dystrophy, but dozens of other muscle diseases, too — including ALS, killer of adults.

Also called "Lou Gehrig's disease," ALS strikes in the prime of life, gradually paralyzing almost every muscle in the body. Right now, no cure is known. But MDA has launched an all-out assault against this deadly disease.

MDA has developed the world's largest integrated ALS research and patient services program. The Association has established five major ALS research centers, and maintains some 230 clinics to help people with ALS and other neuromuscular disorders. And MDA provides ALS patients with medical care and equipment free of charge.

You can join the fight against ALS and other muscle diseases by making a tax-deductible contribution to MDA. You can even specify that your donation is to be used exclusively to benefit ALS patients.

Please help "Jerry's kids" of all ages. Send your donation to MDA today.

Law could 'rush' alternative-fueled cars

The Clean Air Act, soon to be under the scrutiny of the U.S. House of Representatives for the purpose of amending the document, contains a little-known mandate which has raised the ire of the auto world.

Three prominent auto manufacturers associations have formed a coalition to fight an expected amendment to the Clean Air Act when the House meets in mid-May to consider the bill. In short, the amendment would mandate the production and sale of various alternative fuel vehicles to consumers in the nine smoggiest cities in America beginning in the mid-1990s.

The three associations — the Motor Vehicles Manufacturers Association of the United States, Inc., the National Automobile Dealers Association and the Automobile Importers of America, Inc. — are arguing the mandate would be premature and the development of alternative "clean fuels" is the first step to ensuring acceptance by the American consumer.

Thousands of millions of alternative fuel vehicles are not only premature, but could set back the implementation of effective "clean fuel vehicle" programs," said Jeffrey Conley, coalition coordinator. "If vehicles are rushed to the marketplace before the technology is ready, consumers could reject 'clean cars' forever. The simple truth is that, in our country, neither government nor industry can force consumers to buy products they don't want."

Conley advocates interim steps to the goal of the 'clean car' by using low-polluting, reformulated gasoline which can be used in all cars on the road today; continuing to phase-in alternative-fueled vehicles for government and large private fleets; and by producing vehicles which can run on both alternative fuels and gasoline.

"These first steps will provide valuable, real-world experience with alternative-fuel vehicles and allow manufacturers and government to resolve unanswered questions," Conley said.

Alternative fuels have the potential to lower air pollutants by producing less smog-forming emissions than gasoline-powered vehicles and by emitting fewer toxic chemicals.

Auto manufacturers and oil companies have raised questions regarding alternative-fuel vehicle cost, performance and availability of the fuels themselves. Officials for the two industries say the driving range for many of the fuels is half of conventional gasoline and these vehicles do not respond well when started in cold weather.

Six alternative fuels are being researched at the present time. The following is a list of those fuels and the advantages and disadvantages of each possible new fuel source:

Compressed natural gas — Pros; abundant supplies, less expensive than gasoline, distribution system in place, lower emissions of certain pollutants and toxic emissions than gasoline expected: Cons; Cumber-some fuel tank, 80-percent reduction in driving range, 2 to 3 times longer to refuel, requires additional equipment at gas pumps, emits higher nitrogen oxides than gasoline.

Reformulated gasoline — Pros; expected lower pollutant and toxics emissions, would reduce pollution in new and used cars already on the road, distribution system in place: Cons; Fuel cost to consumers would increase, pollution decrease not as great as other fuels.

Electricity — Pros; Quiet, virtually no emission from vehicle, distribution system in place: Cons; Limited range, charge takes six to eight hours, environmental impact depends on source of electricity.

Methanol — Pros; High octane, produces less of certain pollutants: Cons; Produces more of certain other pollutants, less energy per gallon, corrosive, difficult to start vehicle on cold days.

Ethanol — Pros; High octane, made from renewable resources (sugar cane and corn), decreased production of pollutants: Cons; Less energy per gallon, more expensive than gasoline, increased emission of smog-forming pollutant, difficult to start vehicle in cold weather.

Solar-Hydrogen — Pros; Renewable energy source, virtually no emissions produced, does not increase ozone-destroying pollutants: Cons; Technology unlikely to be available for 20 years.

Deafened by hunger pains

Don't talk to me. Don't even look at me. Don't write me notes and don't ask me for anything. Just leave me alone. I'm too hungry to function and even if you do talk to me, the sound of my stomach growling for food will simply override anything you may have to say at any volume.

Yes, it's true. I have finally had to face the fact that I can no longer cram my size 8 body into my size 6 clothes, and in attempting to do so have embarrassed myself on several occasions. When I do attempt to roll my fat-laden midriff into my clothes, my body screams in protest and is sure that I've been taken hostage in Iran and am undergoing some strange type of torture. Now, in an attempt to solve this problem, I have begun to starve myself, which is making my disposition even less pleasant.

Under normal circumstances, I might have approached this situation somewhat less radically, and merely attempted to add a little exercise to my schedule and subtracted several hundred calories from my daily food consumption. Unfortunately, I procrastinated in this endeavor, not wishing to face the truth, and am now sitting on the results.

And they're going to show, believe me, when I attend my son's wedding next month. My poor child will be humiliated when they have to roll his mother down the aisle if I don't take radical action, right now. To add insult to injury, his bride-to-be confided to me last week that her mother finally found just the perfect dress for the event. Of course, she explained, it was really difficult because her mother is sooooo tiny, and doesn't even weigh 100 pounds. I wanted to choke her...and her mother. Somebody should force feed that woman, if you ask me.

So, here I am, starving. It's been a week and I am in the throes of withdrawal. No cookies, no brownies, no cake, no pie, no dessert of any kind. If I eat one more lettuce leaf, I'll have to hop down the damn aisle, I swear it. This is no fun. Who invented dieting, anyhow?

It ought to be called self-torture, that's a more apt description. I mean, I have to lose 10 pounds before June 2 or I might as well go see Omar the tentmaker for a dress. And, don't try to tell me that nobody will care, that they will all be looking at the bride, anyhow. My sister already tried that play and it got her nowhere.

You see, in our family, the son who is being married is the beautiful one. He really is. Gorgeous since birth, he has only improved with age. He's one of those men that women AND other men gawk at. Since his infancy, people have looked at me askance when confronted with his beauty. Nobody can believe he's mine.

For years, there have been constant remarks about how he doesn't resemble me at all - which believe me, is not a compliment. So now, he is going to be dressed in a tuxedo, looking his all-time most devastating, and I am going to have to plod down the aisle with the bride's entire family wondering how a doll such as myself ever produced such a specimen.

As soon as the scale testifies to the success of my starvation, I'm going to reward myself with these treats. Until then, just writing about them makes me feel a little better. And, if I fatten up the rest of the world, maybe I'll look thinner.

FLYING SOLO IN THE KITCHEN

Wayne mother takes crash course in cooking

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Mary Flemming gave herself a crash course in cooking approximately 48 years ago when she first married.

Her family today can never have enough of her food, especially her apple cake and fruit pies.

Fleming said the ultimate compliment recently came from one of her seven grandchildren. When his classmates at Fiegel Elementary School in Plymouth compiled their family recipes for a cookbook, this boy submitted Grandma's recipe for macaroni and cheese.

Even though it comes from a box, he wrote, Grandma's is the best.

Flemming, a longtime Wayne resident, said she used cookbooks as her teacher in the kitchen.

"When I got married I couldn't cook, but I always said anyone who could read could cook. I just learned on my own."

Her collection started with basics such as the Better Homes and Gardens Cookbook. Today, a shelf spanning a wall in her kitchen is crammed with Flemming's books.

Some of these books have never been used. Flemming saves them because she thinks they're interesting, and she loves to show them off.

She has a cookbook from England, one from Nova Scotia and a classic compiled by a local unit of the Merchant Marines. Each of the Marine recipes have catchy titles like Poop Deck Pizza and River Rouge French Bread, Flemming pointed out.

Several other books in the collection focus on Jell-O dishes, favorites of Flemming.

"I like them for the summer months. They turn out pretty and hold up well," she said.

More popular with her family are Flemming's pies.

"My grandson can never visit without asking for my MacIntosh Apple Pie...They don't want anything else."

Flemming avoids shortcuts when she makes her pies.

"I like to let the dough set overnight and roll it out the next day."

For success with fruit pies, Flemming had a simple tip.

"Don't use flour. Use Minute Tapioca instead...It just looks better."

The tapioca box displays a conversion chart, she explained. Simply use it as a substitute whenever a recipe calls for flour for thickening.

Flemming said the recipes she supplied below are some of her favorites for the summer months. The melon balls are especially refreshing on a warm day, she said.

Crown jewel cake

- 1 3-ounce package orange Jell-O
- 1 3-ounce package cherry Jell-O
- 1 3-ounce package lime Jell-O
- 3 cups boiling water
- 1 1/2 cups cold water
- 1 3-ounce package lemon Jell-O
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1/2 cup canned pineapple juice
- 2 envelopes Dream Whip whipped topping mix

Prepare orange, cherry and lime gelatin separately, using one cup boiling water and a half cup cold water for each. Pour each flavor into a separate eight-inch square pan. Chill until firm, at least three hours or overnight. Cut into half-inch cubes and set aside a few of each flavor for garnish. Dissolve lemon gelatin and sugar in one cup boiling water. Stir in pineapple juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Prepare both envelopes of whipped topping mix as directed on package. Blend into the slightly thickened lemon gelatin. Fold in gelatin cubes. Spread into a nine-inch spring form pan. Chill until firm, at least five hours or overnight. Just before serving, run a spatula around sides of pan, then gently remove sides. Garnish top with reserved gelatin cubes. Makes 16 servings.

Cheesecake

- 16-20 graham crackers
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/2 cup sugar or
- 1/4 cup powdered sugar
- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1/2 cup sugar

Crush crackers, mix with butter and sugar. Cream together cream cheese, two beaten eggs and a half cup of sugar. Spread over crumb mixture and bake at 350 degrees 20 minutes. Use strawberry glaze (see recipe below).

Strawberry glaze

- 1 12-ounce package sweetened frozen strawberries
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch

Defrost frozen strawberries. Drain 30 minutes. Measure juice and add enough water if necessary to make one cup. Combine cornstarch and sugar, slowly add cup of juice. Mix well and cook over moderate heat until thick, then simmer approximately five minutes. Add red coloring (optional). Let glaze cool for approximately 10 minutes. Combine with drained strawberries. Let cool another few minutes. Carefully pour on top of cake. Refrigerate until ready to serve or at least two hours.

Apple cake II

- 3 eggs
- 1 3/4 cups sugar
- 1 cup oil
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 4 cups finely chopped apple
- 1 cup chopped pecans

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Beat together eggs and sugar. Stir in oil and vanilla. Sift together dry ingredients and fold into batter. Fold in chopped apples and pecans. Pour into greased nine-by-13-inch pan and bake 45 minutes or until done. Serve with cream cheese frosting or whipped cream.

Melon balls in watermelon sauce

- 1/4 small watermelon

Movie features
underwater
treasures

Mysteries that lie beneath the inland seas will be uncovered for the public at an exhibit on underwater archaeology at the Michigan Historical Museum.

The museum, located in the east wing of the Michigan Library, will play host to the exhibit called "Beneath the Inland Seas."

The exhibit features many items found on shipwrecks in the Great Lakes.

Shuttle movie to debut

"The Dream is Alive" is set to debut at Cedar Point Amusement Park in Sandusky, Ohio.

Filmed by 14 astronauts during different space shuttle missions, the film includes rare footage of Earth and an in-flight tour of the shuttle. The movie will be projected onto a seven-story tall screen, nine stories wide.

The movie was funded by the Smithsonian Institute and Lockheed Corp.

Apple blossoms
to bloom

Apple blossoms are set to bloom near the end of May in Traverse City, offering visitors a beautiful spectacle.

Local experts predict the blooms will be at their best the third and last week of May. The Old Mission Peninsula offers some of the best views of the apple orchards.

Germany to offer rail system

Visitors to Germany may soon be able to get around a little more easily.

Officials have announced that GermanRail will be open to the public in June 1991.

HILTON HEAD ISLAND

If you're a tennis buff, a golf buff, a beach buff, a nature buff, a fishing buff, or a relaxing buff — you can 'buff' yourself to infinity at Hilton Head Island on the Atlantic Shore off the coast of South Carolina.

The beaches are marvelous. They stretch 100 yards wide at low tide, with a smooth, rolling surf that will make you feel more relaxed than you've felt in months. Hilton Head's surf is gentle enough for the wobbliest toddler, and there's enough of it — just about the whole island.

Bicycling is a way of life. Many people pedal the beaches (the sand is firm enough) although most prefer the 14 mile bikeway system and miles of secluded roadway. For those who like tennis and golf — it's Shangri-La. There are over 100 tennis courts, featuring many of the top international pros, and nationally televised matches. For the golfer, there are over 200 golf holes with more on the drawing board and top pros everywhere. The famed Heritage Golf Classic is played here each spring.

Currently, the roundtrip super-saver fare from Detroit is $224.

Enthusiasts canoe through serene rivers

As soon as the weather becomes warm people start thinking about water.

They want to swim in it, sail in it, and they want to canoe in it.

AAA Michigan recently identified canoeing as one of the most popular water activities in Michigan. Thousands of canoeists are expected to pull their paddles through 36,000 miles of inland waterways this season.

"Canoe rates vary widely, ranging from $12 a day to as much as $18 an hour depending on the location," said Peter Erickson, AAA Michigan Club Services director. "But most liveries are holding prices to last year's levels."

Canoes can be rented on several southeast Michigan rivers including the Huron, River Raisin, Clinton and the south branch of the Kalamazoo.

Some liveries charge hourly rates of $3 to $18. Others reserve canoes for two-and-a-half-hour blocks at costs between $14 and $20. Some charge daily rates of $12 to $30. Half-day, weekly and group discounts also may be available.

A spokesperson for the Huron-Clinton Metroparks said canoes are not available for rent at the Lower Huron (Van Buren Township) or Wilcox (Huron Township) facilities, but people with their own canoes are welcome.

Canoe rentals are also available through the Wayne County Parks. Once Rouge River waterways are cleaned up, officials hope to open a canoe livery in Westland near Nankin Mill. Call the parks department for information about canoeing in Wayne County.

Most liveries open in April or May and remove canoes from the water in October or November. Reservations are recommended, especially during holidays and summer weekends.

Novices can learn to canoe free of charge May 15 through June 15 at participating liveries. Free, one-hour canoe trips are also available during Michigan Canoe Week, June 1 through 7, to those registering in advance.

AAA representatives suggest those heading out for a river paddle wear tennis shoes and bring a dry change of clothing, suntan oil, a hat and a windbreaker. Expensive jewelry should be left at home, they said, and wallets or keys should be kept in zippered or buttoned pockets.

To keep personal possessions dry, place items in garbage bags, sealed separately and packed one inside the other. Bags should be attached to the canoe.

In addition, alcohol affects balance and coordination, AAA representatives warn. Drinking should be avoided while canoeing, they said.

Canoeers should know how to swim and wear personal flotation devices approved by the United States Coast Guard.

For more information about Michigan canoeing spots, write to the Michigan Recreational Canoeing Association, P.O. Box 296, Montague, Michigan 49437.

DINING AND ENTERTAINMENT

Pizza chain supports education

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

The "World's Largest Pizza Party" will be staged May 20 at all Hungry Howie's Pizza stores across Michigan.

The purpose of the event, which will be staged from noon to 3 p.m., is to collect money for education. For $1, customers can get a slice of pizza and a Coke, plus the satisfaction of knowing they are helping a good cause - their local schools.

Each pizza store will donate the money raised to the community it is located in, according to Hungry Howie's spokeswoman Patricia Johnson.

In the past, the event has

“He believes that education should be in the forefront of every community.”

— Patricia Johnson
Hungry Howie's spokeswoman been staged in Florida. This marks the first time Hungry Howie's has sponsored the event in Michigan.

"It's been so successful, that we decided to have the party in Michigan too," Johnson said.

Some stores are hiring clowns, bands and face painters for the party.

"It's kind of situational. Some stores are going all out and getting into the full thrust of the party," Johnson said.

The reason education was chosen as the benefactor of the party is Hungry Howie's President Steve Jackson has always been committed to education, according to Johnson.

"He believes that education should be in the forefront of every community," Johnson said.

Hungry Howie's has 163 stores across the country. Last year the "World's Largest Pizza Party" raised $25,000 for public schools in Florida, according to Johnson.

Each year the event keeps getting more popular, according to Johnson.

Hungry Howie's locations in Wayne and Westland will participate with the money going to the Wayne-Westland schools.
